Dear Dr. Schaffer,

Over the past 30 years, we have been honored to partner with Wyoming's communities, employers and generous donors. These relationships are essential to Climb Wyoming's success as one of the nation's most effective programs in moving families out of poverty. As we continue to work with Wyoming's most vulnerable families, we invite you to partner with our families through your generous support.

In this year's Progress Report, you'll read about the tenacious women who have eased their struggles through Climb Wyoming, turning their lives around so their children can have a brighter future. Their perseverance has paid off – not just in higher paying careers, but in the happiness and security their families feel.

As Tara says of her kids' life after Climb, "Now their lives have changed dramatically. They don't have to worry about how we'll get things. My daughter says she feels better; more secure knowing that mom is taking care of us."

My whole life, I've quit things that are too hard – but at Climb I wanted to show that I could do anything! Learning to drive a truck was crazy since I'm only 5'2", but I love it. Now I say, 'try new things because you never know – you may find out you can do it.'

I cannot thank you enough for being such an important partner in the lives of our Wyoming families. Please consider a gift to support Climb today. Together we can empower single mothers and restore hope for generations to come.

Gratefully,

Ray Fleming Dinneen, Psy.D.
